

GRAND JURY HOLDS WAKIKI INN DEAL WAS CONSPIRACY

Former Manager Scully, Policeman Chilton and Morgue Attendant Fischer Indicted

JUDGE ASHFORD MAKES
SECRET REPORT PUBLIC

Lack of Cooperation Between License Inspector and Sheriff's Office Is Charged

(From Thursday Advertiser.)

John T. Scully, former manager of Waikiki Inn; Willmont E. Chilton, motorcycle police officer, and John H. Fischer, a morgue attendant in the employ of the territorial board of health, yesterday afternoon were indicted for conspiracy in the first degree by the territorial grand jury, in connection with the alleged "spiriting away" of Fischer when the latter was to have appeared before the license commission in the investigation of alleged violations of Waikiki Inn liquor license.

The men will be arraigned before Judge Ashford Saturday morning at nine o'clock. Scully and Chilton have furnished bonds, each in the sum of five hundred dollars, L. A. Leong being surety on Scully's bond and William R. Chilton on that of Willmont E. Chilton, his son.

Attorney A. S. Humphreys is representing Scully and E. C. Peters is attorney for Chilton.

Fischer was called into court shortly after the indictment against him had been filed and he was given until five o'clock to procure bond in the sum of $500. Later the time leave was extended until two o'clock this afternoon, Fischer being out now on his own recognizance. Attorney A. S. Humphreys represented Scully before the license board investigation, but is not now the latter's attorney in the conspiracy charge.

Alleged Fischer Got $20

The indictment alleges that the three defendants "unlawfully, maliciously and fraudulently combined and mutually undertook and concerted together to commit an act against the laws of the Territory of Hawaii, to wit: to suppress legal evidence, and the said John T. Scully, Willmont E. Chilton and John H. Fischer, then and there, wilfully intending to prevent and obstruct the course of justice did give to the said John H. Fischer the sum of twenty dollars, to evade the giving of his testimony before the board of liquor license commissioners of the City and County of Honolulu, Territory of Hawaii, in the case of the application of the Waikiki Inn, for a renewal of its second-class liquor license."

It has been known for several weeks that the grand jury had found true bills against three men in connection with the Waikiki Inn episode and it was surmised that Scully, Chilton and Fischer were the men, but the indictments and the report of the special committee of the grand jury were kept under cover until yesterday.

Special Committee Report

The report, now made public, is as follows:

"Honolulu, Hawaii, Sept. 22, 1914.
"To the Members of the Grand Jury, Gentlemen: Herewith report re Waikiki Inn License Application:
"Your committee believes that all the members of the jury have noted the marked conflict in the testimony of the various witnesses who have been heard in this matter. It is certain that many false statements have been made under oath and it is safe to assume that they have been made not without interest and motive.

"If Fischer and Fischer and Kramer had been heard by the license commission on June 29, this year, it is more than probable that there would have been at least further consideration of the application of the Waikiki Inn. This, of course, makes the interest of Scully, proprietor of the Inn, vital. That Scully and Chilton were friendly and that Chilton was a frequent visitor of the Inn are facts unchallenged. It is difficult to reconcile or to attach credence to the two versions or the several versions of the provision of sandwiches and beer for an auto party ride on the morning of June 29, as given by Chilton, Scully and Fischer.

Searched for Dove Poachers

"There is no explanation whatever of the choice of Fischer and Kramer by Chilton for the trip into Koolau in the search for dove poachers. One theory, and only one, can account for the enlistment of Fischer and all the circumstances leading up to his enlistment. This is the purpose and design to have him out of town during the very last sitting of the commission on the Inn license application.

"Your committee must reach the conclusion that a conspiracy existed to keep from the records of the commission in this case the testimony of Fischer. We believe that Chilton and Scully were parties to this conspiracy and that Fischer was a willing agent in the plot.

"We recommend that Scully, Chilton and Fischer be indicted for conspiracy under the statute. Our opinion is that if this had been an ordinary grand jury hearing, instead of a broad investigation the testimony of Penell, Kramer, Fischer, Nugent and the Japanese, uncontradicted, would have been ample to warrant indictment. We believe the available evidence could be so handled and supplemented that a trial jury would be convinced of the existence of this conspiracy.

Shot At City Sheriff Rose

"We deem it proper to remark that there is a lamentable lack of co-operation between the license inspector and the office of the sheriff of the City and

Honolulu Girls Plan Big 'Swimfest'

Miss M. Deas, Who Is On Coast Trying To Induce Girl Swimmers To Enter Events of Hui Au Kai Carnival Next February

Agent On Coast Is Looking For Contestants To Enter Carnival Here Next February

San Francisco newspapers are giving space and publicity to the visit of Miss Milward Deas of Honolulu to that city, in order to arrange for a young woman swimmer to come to Honolulu and compete against Ruth Stacker in the swimming races at the carnival next February.

After the Hui Au Kai of Honolulu had raised sufficient funds to bring a swimmer to Honolulu by giving a dance, Miss Deas went to the Bay City, and now she is trying to arrange to have Miss Margaret Stacker come to Honolulu during the carnival.

A San Francisco paper says that the fame of Miss Deas has spread to Honolulu, and that the island club is particularly desirous of having her visit Honolulu and compete with Miss Stacker, the local girls' champion and holder of the American mark of thirty-one seconds for fifty yards.

The girl swimmers of the Coast are invited to come forward and put in their claims in the event Miss Deas cannot come and there are others wishing to take her place, as all expenses of the swimmer will be paid by the Honolulu club.

Miss Deas has not equalled Miss Stacker's fifty-yard mark, her best time being thirty-two and four-fifths seconds, but in longer races she has better records. In July she established the American record for 440 yards for girls, in the Auto tank.

In addition to fast swimmers, girls who are proficient in fancy diving and other aquatic sports are urged to make the trip to Honolulu for the swimming carnival.

Pro-German Utterances by Professor Jeopardizes Legacy of $10,000,000

BOSTON, October 15.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)—Major Clarence Wiener of London has threatened to change his will which provides for a bequest of $10,000,000 to Harvard University, unless Professor Hugo Munsterberg is dismissed from Harvard faculty.

Major Wiener's action is based on what he terms the "unwarranted pro-German utterances" of the professor. As a result of the ultimatum to the university, Professor Munsterberg has offered his resignation.

County of Honolulu, and to add that there is in our judgment no ground for any charge or rumor involving the police department itself in an effort to thwart this investigation by the license commission.

Respectfully submitted,

SAN FRANCISCANS PLAN BIG CRUISE

Knights of Columbus Arranging For Monster Excursion To Islands Next Year

According to the latest advice from San Francisco, Honolulu is practically assured of a visit by a party of about 100 members of the Knights of Columbus, a Catholic order strongly represented in California, in July, 1915.

San Francisco council number 615, one of the two councils in the Bay city, has the project under way, and it is understood that members of other councils will be invited to accompany the party.

Cruise To Be Prolonged

Out of a total of thirty-eight councils, with a membership of more than 6000, in California, there are about a dozen councils in the vicinity of San Francisco, and the promoters of the trip expect a large number of members to go on the cruise.

A committee consisting of some prominent San Franciscans is in charge of the arrangements and has planned a trip to last twenty-one days. Deducting the time spent on the steamer, this means that the time spent in Hawaii will be fully occupied in taking in all the sights.

Trip Will Be Reasonable

The knights will be able to make this trip at a very reasonable expense, $200 for each member covering all the necessities from the time of boarding the steamer until the day of return to San Francisco.

This includes first-class steamer accommodations, stay at a first-class hotel in Honolulu, with room and meals, auto drives to all points of interest on Oahu, a side-trip to Hilo with auto drives to all points of interest and a trip to the volcano. If there are one hundred or more members in the party a string orchestra will be taken along.

The committee in charge of arrangements was able to secure such a favorable rate by reason of the fact that many of the San Franciscans members of the order are men occupying high positions in the railroad and steamship companies and used their influence to this end.

Lectures To Create Interest

In order to stimulate interest among the members of the San Francisco council, which is promoting the cruise, the committee in charge will have lectures on social meeting nights during the winter months and show stereoscopic views of the different places to be visited.

ANOTHER MAN HAS BEEN MISQUOTED

WASHINGTON, October 14.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)—Secretary of War Garrison states that Captain Levert Coleman, Coast Artillery Corps, who had been officially charged with discussing the European situation in an unneutral manner, had volunteered the explanation that he had been misquoted, the explanation being regarded as satisfactory.

Former Postmaster Pratt, Who Was Passenger, Tells Why Steamer Changed Course

Possibly the last of the Canadian-Australian steamers has called here during the period of the war. This is indicated in statements made by J. G. Pratt, former postmaster of Honolulu, who arrived here on the Matsonia.

Mr. Pratt was a passenger on the Makura from Australia, bound for Honolulu. But before he reached here the liner received orders from the admiralty not to stop at Honolulu and to swing out from its regular course.

"When we got to Fiji," said Mr. Pratt yesterday, "we learned that the Germans had cut the cable at Fanning Island."

"The captain was advised that it would be too dangerous to call at Honolulu, in view of the Germans' activities in the South Pacific, so the ship turned out of its regular course and didn't stop till it got to Vancouver."

"As the company could not carry out its contract with me by letting me off at Honolulu, it furnished me transportation to San Francisco on the President and from San Francisco to Honolulu on the Matsonia."

"I waited for some time in Vancouver for a decision to be made on whether the Makura should stop here on its way back. It was decided September 30 that she should not stop here. It was then that I left for San Francisco."

German Cruiser Leipsic Said To Have Sunk Two English Merchantmen

PANAMA, October 3.—Shipping along the western coast of South America has been almost suspended, owing to the reported presence in these waters of the German cruiser Leipsic, which is reported to have sunk two British ships in the last week. British lines operating ships from Balboa to the south have withdrawn their sailings, thus delaying the mails from Santiago, Chile, and points beyond. Only Chilean and Peruvian boats are now plying to the ports on the west coast.

According to reports reaching here, the Leipsic is sailing toward Panama, but it is impossible to verify these rumors. Nor is there any confirmation here of the reported sailing around Cape Horn of British men-of-war, which are believed to have orders to destroy the Leipsic.

WAR RELIEF FUND GROWS

Philanthropy of Hawaii Expands

Two Thousand Dollars Sent To Suffering Belgians and Contributions Are Increasing

WAR RELIEF FUND WILL YOU HELP?
Every little counts to relieve the awful suffering of widows and orphans caused by the war.

Little boxes with these signs upon them, in English and Hawaiian and Chinese, will confront shoppers and business men downtown.

Twenty-four of these contribution boxes have been made. They probably will be put up tomorrow, under the direction of W. R. Castle, chairman of the relief committee.

The board of supervisors has given its permission that the boxes be put in the public places desired.

Relief Fund Is Growing

Rapid strides are being made in the collection of funds. Late yesterday afternoon a total of $394.25 had been received. During the day $273 was subscribed, $240 of which was specified for the Belgians. In addition, $150 has been received in pledges.

The committee is carrying on its work in an earnest and business-like way. Strict account is kept of all donations received.

The committee expects to be able to cable several thousand dollars to the sufferers within a few days. For that reason it asks that all subscriptions possible be made without delay.

Honoluluans are showing their deep sympathy for Belgians in their liberal subscription, which are being made especially for those people. They have forwarded already to the sufferers $2000.

This seems to be not only true of Honolulu, but of the entire country. Belgium is looked upon as an innocent sufferer in the great war of nations, is held in sympathy, and the people of Honolulu and elsewhere are showing their sympathy by their liberal donations.

Madame Vandervelde's Activity

Mme. Lalla Vandervelde, wife of the Belgian minister of state, is credited with doing a great deal to arouse the people of America to come to the assistance of the starving Belgians.

"It came to me quite suddenly, this plan to get help for my people. One moment I had not thought of it; the next I knew it was the right thing, the only thing that I could do."

That is the way Madame Vandervelde describes the impulse that led her to go to America to ask the people of the United States for $1,000,000 with which to succor the homeless mothers and little children of that war-stricken land.

Anything that minimizes the importance of women meets with the disapproval of this energetic young woman, for she is a suffragist and a feminist.

"Only I have put all those things aside now," she says, "for I have just my mission, which is to make life a little less terrible for those women and children whose homes have been destroyed, whose protectors are slain, who have been torn away from everything that was dear and familiar to them."

"Just now, of course, they are being taken care of, but there is a long time before them, when they have to begin afresh with absolutely nothing."

BUSINESS MEN ENDORSE GOOD WORK OF WOMEN

Chamber of Commerce Adopts Resolution Which by Implication
Condemns Billboards

ONLY ONE DIRECTOR
WITHHOLDS APPROVAL

Efforts of Outdoor Circle For City
Beautiful Approved Almost Unanimously

(From Thursday Advertiser.)

After some rather warm discussion and with one dissenting vote, the directors of the Chamber of Commerce passed the following resolution yesterday afternoon, commending the Outdoor Circle for its good work:

"Resolved, that the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce endorse the good work and efforts of the Outdoor Circle in beautifying the city of Honolulu."

W. R. Farrington cast the dissenting vote. He did so, he said, because he thought the resolution, which by plain implication endorsed the anti-billboard fight of the circle, did not meet the situation squarely; that it was side-stepping the issue.

Chamber Is Lined Up

In the light of the fact that the resolution was passed in response to a request from the Outdoor Circle to support it in its fight against the billboards, the action of the directors yesterday amounts to lining up the chamber against the obnoxious form of advertising.

One of the directors said last night that a fight on the billboard question had been expected at the meeting, and that they had assembled prepared for it. As at least one of the directors has been an open advocate of such forms of advertising, a sharp dispute was looked forward to, and in order to avoid as much of a row as possible, it was decided to omit any mention of billboards in the resolution, though framing the resolution in such a way as to make their implication clear.

It was this proposition which Mr. Farrington declared himself opposed to. He called it side-stepping.

The resolution was introduced by E. I. Spaulding.

Chamber Stands With Soldiers

A report was made through L. Tenney Peck, chairman of the territorial affairs committee, recommending that action be taken by the chamber to get the Washington military authorities to allow soldiers while not on duty here to appear in civilian clothes.

The report goes into the soldier situation on Oahu quite fully. It was adopted by unanimous vote. The report was made after the committee had spent considerable time on the subject and interviewed officers here.

The question referred to the committee was in what way the soldier could be made more contented here.

The committee reached the conclusion that the first step in this direction would be in getting permission for soldiers to go without uniform when off duty. Hawaii is the only place in the country, with the exception of Panama and the Philippines where this is not allowed.

Will Enlist Deceased

The report suggested that the chamber take the matter up with the Delegate and call upon him to use his influence to get the recommendations adopted by the military authorities.

Secretary Raymond C. Brown started a movement to get the National Chamber of Commerce here for their next annual session. His recommendation was referred to the territorial affairs committee.

The National chamber is a giant organization in which the various chambers of the United States are represented. It meets annually.

Mlle. Jeanette de la Morlais Announces Brother's Death At Battle of Aisne

Published in today's Advertiser, the death notice of Capt. Raoul de la Morlais, a brother of Mlle. Jeanette de la Morlais, a teacher of Honolulu, is the first notice to appear here since the European war began of the death of a soldier killed in battle who is related to a local resident. It brings Europe, with its war-torn countries and the tremendous struggle of great armies, much closer to Hawaii.

The casualty lists seem a loss in personal and distant when they contain the names of persons known locally or related to local residents, as in this case. Perhaps there are other cases where persons in these islands have been advised of the loss of relatives in the war, but this is the first notice to be given to the Honolulu papers.

The late Capt. de la Morlais was one of three brothers of Mademoiselle de la Morlais in the French army. He died on September 2 at Vervins, in Northern France, of wounds received in the opening battle on the Aisne river.

Another of the brothers is a member of the staff of General Joffre, being in charge of the entire aviation corps of the French army, while the third brother is an aviator.

The surviving brothers are holders of decorations for merit, presented by the French government.

KAUAI HAD A
$5000 BLAZE

The Garden Island—The Hawaiian Sugar Company's plantation warehouse at the right of the road leading to the mill, was destroyed by fire about eight o'clock Sunday evening, the cause undoubtedly being spontaneous combustion.

The warehouse, which was of corrugated iron on the outside and wood interior, was closed at three o'clock Saturday afternoon and was never opened again prior to the fire.

When the blaze was discovered an alarm was sounded and hundreds of employees turned out promptly. By their quick work a great deal of merchandise was saved from the burning structure. Only one accident occurred during the rush and excitement, a Japanese having his arm severely cut by a sheet of tumbling corrugated iron.

The building was valued at $2500 and was not insured. It was a total loss. Merchandise, machinery, etc., in the warehouse were valued at about $15,000. This was insured. It is hard to say just what the loss will turn out to be, inasmuch as machinery and certain other items will have to be valued by appraisers. Merchandise, etc., actually destroyed will probably total $5000, the rest being saved.

The most serious loss was, perhaps, of sugar bags for about 1500 tons of sugar, for the reason that bags are a scarce article in the islands just now and it will likely be some time before they can be replaced.

FERTILIZER CARGOES DIE

J. F. C. Hagens said yesterday that the local fertilizer situation is not all to the bad. The Pacific Guano and Fertilizer Company has a 3600-ton cargo of nitrate of soda due in Honolulu this month. The ship is a neutral vessel under the Norwegian flag.

This company also has a cargo of ammonium sulphate en route which left England just before the war. This ship is coming by way of Suez and Japan.

"The planters need not worry," Mr. Hagens said, "we will have abundant supplies of all fertilizers required, in time for the 1915 and 1916 crops."
